Drug-addicted female clients and women working in drug prevention services

Ilona Preslová
SANANIM, o. s., freelance

Key words:

Abstract:
The article reflects on the position of the female client in the drug-addicted world and on the offer of drug prevention services with respect to the client’s various roles, e.g. a drug addict, a partner, a mother. It intends to bring reflection on a woman in the team of the above-mentioned services from the gender viewpoint, while considering possible controversial topics in the area of AT.